

Example: This is a screenshot of a matured conversation by a group surrounding the big question “How do stars form, live, and die”. Each square represents a student note. The arrows between the notes indicate one student building upon the work of another.

